GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK.

STEWARDS DISQUALIFY PRINCE HAMBURG FOR FOULING.

Feud Between the White and Celered Jeckeys Comes to the Surface When L. Williams Wins Race With Shot Gun -J. A.

For some time a yarn has been in circulation among turfmen to the effect that the white jockeys on the local tracks were combined in an attempt to hamper and harass the colored riders. Before the running of the fifth race yesterday W. B. Jennings, owner of Shot Gun, took L. Williams, the negro who had been engaged to pilot the horse to one side and told him that he believed the white boys had conspired to keep him from

"Never fear, boss," replied Williams, with a laugh. "When I get ready to come to the front I'll bust through as sure as you live. They can't stop me, boss."

The race was under way but a short distance when Shot Gun was pocketed. On the far turn Williams tried to come through with him, but Lyne, who rode Prince Ham burg, shut him off by pulling over in front As they turned into the stretch Prince Hamburg had the rail, with Shot Gun his right a short distance behind him and Oxford on the outside. Instead of hug-ging the rail Lyne pulled his horse away from making a sort of wedge with Oxford. through which Williams boldly drove Sho Gun at the sixteenth pole. Prince Hamburg incidentally interfered with Robin Hood. whose boy, Nicol, had to pull up. It was a lear case of foul riding, and the stewards, who probably knew of the alleged conspiracy to interfere with the colored riders, par-ticularly Williams, lost no time in disqualifying Lyne's mount, which placed Robin Hood third place. Williams wore a grin from ear to ear when he met Jennings in the pad lock after the race.

looks as if they tried mighty hard. I brushed my way through them and got the money you bet I can take care of myself if they want to begin rough riding!"

Lyne is a Kentuckian, but whether a hatred of the colored race prompted him to interfere ith Williams or not will probably never be open in future for similar incidents, as the Jockey Club's motto has always been a square deal for all, regardless of color or creed. John A. Drake said yesterday that at the end of the present meeting at the Bay he in-tends to sell out his racing stable and retire There is no use trying to beat the game, said the Chicago turfman to THE SUN man.

"The layers seem to have combined against me and never quote fair prices against my horses. If Far West, for instance, had run in my name on Monday he would have been a to 5 instead of 6 to 1. My horses have run consistently all the year and I believe that the public has confidence in them. Yet the layers have persisted in quoting ridiculously mall prices against them, even when it was a small chance for them to win. That is the reason why I have practically come to the conclusion to give up the game, as it is not worth all the trouble and annoyance to which a horseman is subjected. I have raced a stable for the pure fun of it. I like to bet, just as othe owners do, but I do not believe in on the second race in the Drake

This incident had nothing to do with Drake's decision to retire, for he has been thinking of doing so for several weeks. Jack McGinnis, by the way, bet on Ostrich, who carried his colors, and is said to have won $10,000 or more. As Radtke had the leg up the Raineys also had slice of the good thing.

Schreiber's Nealon a Surprise in the Dolphin-Wes Scores for Drake and Rainey Gets a Purse With Anna May -Four Favorites Succeed at the Bay

James B. Brady's $25,000 celt Fountainblue scored a hollow victory in the Partridge Stakes, for two-year-olds, six furlongs on the grass, at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. With De Mund scratched Brady's colt was made a prohibitive favorite at 7 to 20. Martin took hold of him at the outset and never let him down, the son of Oddfellow disposing of James R. Keene's Vox Populi, 13 to 5, decisively at the head of the stretch and then breezing to the judges with three lengths to spare in 1:14. Vox Populi, a colt by Voter— Dorset Flower, had eight lengths over George Barney Schreiber's Nealon, a 12 to 1 shot, proved a surprise by taking the Dolphin Stakes, for three-year-olds, one mile and a furlong, in a hard drive by a head. Dugan rode him with clever judgment, keeping the Sain colt always within reach of Cottontown, even money favorite, who made the bulk of the pace. Nicol did not put up a very strong finish on the latter, whose defeat was a gold mine for the books. H. P. Wihitney's Ironsides, 20 to 1, was third, four lengths back. Athlete, 7 to 5, ran a disgracefully poor race and was beaten off, in striking contrast to his last remarkable performance at Saratoga. The time was 1:53.

John A. Drake's Wes, 4 to 5 favorite, was much the best in the second race, at a mile, going to the front at the half and winning in hand by half a length, in 1:40 2-5. P. M. Civill's Orly II., 8 to 1, ran sn improved race, taking the place by two lengths from P. H. McCarren's Water Dog, 7 to 1, who beat Oarsman, 15 to 1, a head.

From a big field in the first race, for maiden two-year-old fillies, five and a half furlongs, Paul J. Rainey's Anna May, 8 to 5 favorite, won in a drive by three parts of a length, with David Gideon's Princess Nettie, a 100 to 1 shot, running in the place a length before II. O. Appleby's Crimson Clover, 7 to 1. A. B. Spreckels's Allia, backed down to 7 to 2, led to the elbow in the track and then stopped. The time was 1:07 1-5.

Shot Gun, picking up 130 pounds and an equal favorite with H. P. Whitney's Prince Hamburg at 11 to 5, the latter being similarly weighted, got through a jam in the middle of the stretch and won the fifth race, for all ages, six furlongs, by a head from Oxford, 20 to 1. Prince Hamburg, who finished third, was disqualified for fouling, which placed Robin Hood, 30 to 1, in the money. The race was run in 1:13 4-5.

TROTTING CUPS WELL SPLIT UP.

Amateur Meet. Boston, Sept. 4 .- The trophies for the winners of the half dozen events on the card of the final day's racing in the intercity amateur tlemen's Driving Club of this city at Readville trotting park were well divided, each of the cities represented capturing at least one cup, while Cleveland secured two.

The win of Invader, owned by Andrew Crawford of New York, in the free for all trot, gave the New York club another of the high priced trophies. The same horse won on Laber Day in the 2:09 trot, but it was necessary to go an extra heat to win from Gracie Kellar, the local club's representative, this afternoon. Gracie Kellar won the first heat after making two breaks, but her bad manners in the next two gave an easy victory to the New Yorker.

The attempts to beat the pacing and trotting track records to wagon by Morning Star and George G. were successful, the former setting the mark at 2:05, the old record being 2:05% made by Blacklock, while the Cleveland trotter made a circuit in 2:07%, beating the trotting record of 2:09%, formerly held by Promise.

YACHTSMEN AWAIT NEXT CON-TEST FOR ROOSEVELT TROPHY.

Hope for a Steady Light Breeze To-day So That German Boats May Be Tested it Different Weather-Course Suited to the Vim-Visitors Not Discouraged. MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Sept. 4 .- The American and German fleets are to-night ready and waiting for the second battle for the Roosevelt cup. This has been a day of rest as far as racing is concerned, but all hands have been busy preparing for the resumption of hostilities. The utmost good nature exists on both sides, and to-night, while the racers are tugging at their moorings, anxious for the contest, the yachtsmen are fraternizing at the Eastern Yacht Club, spinning yarns and listening. The Germans have been beaten in the first battle. It was fought out under conditions that they thought were particularly favorable to them and they were beaten. Now the second test is approaching, and it is hoped that the weather conditions will be

A steady light breeze is wanted, and it is possible that under these conditions the German boats will do better. The foreign yachtsmen may have been mistaken in their idea of what weather suits them here best, and there are many good Judges of yachts and yacht racing who think that the visiting yachts will be seen at their best in light winds. point out the fact that the German boats are all smaller than the American craft. Their bodies displace less and they have the same amount of driving power as the home craft. The experts figure that a small body can be driven better than a large body, each having the same power. Yesterday's race was one in which length told, and in length the Amer ican boats all exceed the visitors.

The Germans are not discouraged. They still have chances of success and they will try as far as possible to win. Among the Americans there is a smile of confidence on each face. They have been worrying for weeks, and after vesterday's race there is a feeling that the cup will remain on this side of the Atlantic and that the real fight is not between the United States and Germany but between New York and Boston. The Auk is the crack of the Eastern pair and the Vim represents New York.

three American boats were overhauled again to-day at the yard of Burgess & Packard. They were hauled out last night They have a simple way of hauling these way they lift cattle onto a steamer.

Bands are placed under the yacht at the stem and stern, care being taken that they do not cut into the yacht. These bands are attached to the crane and then the yacht is lifted out of the water and carefully deposited in a cradle on the land. The underbodies of the American boats were carefully wiped off and the Caramba and Auk were pot leaded again. The Vim was just rubbed down, and again. The Vim was just rubbed down, and in places where the putty in the seams had been squeezed out through the pounding of the seas the roughness was smoothed away and then the green underbody of the yacht was carefully polished again.

Designer William Gardner found out to-day what a queer place this town is. It is made up of a number of houses which seem to have been dropped anywhere without regard to order. There are some stores and judging by the number of restaurants Marbleheaders think more of eating than anything else. In fact, when it is time to eat all business is suspended and money has no weight against dinner. Mr. Gardner wanted a piece of chamois so that the Vim could be properly smoothed off. He started out to find it just at noon and he walked from one end of the town to the other and everywhere he went the store was closed. "Gone to dinner" he was told, and so he and the Vim had to walt until Marblehead had dined before the chamois was procured.

was told, and so he and the vim had to wait until Marblehead had dined before the chamois was procured.

The American boats were lowered into the water this evening and are ready for the race. The German boats kept at their moorings off the Eastern Yacht Club house all day. Beyond changing the mainsail on the Tilly nothing was done except to thoroughly overhaul the rigging and see that everything was in shape. A fine breeze from the northwest has been blowing all day. The sea was smooth and it would have been an ideal day for the race. The harbor is crowded with boats large and small, but few ventured outside to-day. The wind at times blew as high as thirty-two miles an hour and only a few times during the day dropped below twenty miles. It has been said that with the exception of the time when the New York Yacht Club fleet visited here there never have been so many boats in the harbor. On Sunday night there were more than 100 and this afternoon 278 sailing craft were counted and there night there were more than 100 and this afternoon 278 sailing craft were counted and there are very many power boats.

The race to-morrow will be started as usua from Half Way Rock, just three miles from the harbor. A fairer and better course can be had from that point than if the start was from Marblehead Rock, and if the weather is as clear as it is to-day every move of the racers can be seen from the shore. The course will be to windward or leeward and return. Each leg will be three miles and in all the yachts will sail twelve miles. The Vim is the favorite for this race. She is the best boat turning to windward and she can rum well. In the trial races she showed this and on Monday she made the best time on the windward legs, beating the Auk 46 seconds, but she lost on the reaches.

H. L. Bowden's auto boat Mercedes was shipped to New York this 'afternoon. She was taken to Boston on a truck and then put on a flat car. She has been thoroughly overhauled and will take part in the auto boat races arranged by the Motor Boat Club next week.

NEW JERSEY RIFLEMEN LEAD. New York Team in Third Place at End of SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 4 .- New Jersey's twelve straight shooting riflemen were at the top of the bunch when the 800 yard targets Congress. The first stage, however. was not completed owing to unavoidable delays at the 600 yard stage. The 800 yard stage

It was a broadside of two singles, a double and a triple that gave the New Yorks their three runs in the sixth inning; a hit batsman, a double by Browne, a muff by O'Neill, a steal by Seymour and a drive to right by Devlin that gave them three more in the seventh, and a double by Ferguson and a single by Browne that equipped them with one in the eighth. The Bostons revived in the ninth to the extent of hits by Dolan, Tenney, Howard and Brown and two runs. The score:

curred while the teams were at the 600 yard stage. The life saving crew had put out to sea to the aid of the crew of a capsized fisherman and ail targets were lashed until the rescue had been effected. Later in the stage the target of the Indiana team was almost blown out to sea by a sudden gust and the big field had a long wait before the Hoosier team was ready for the 800 yard stage.

The day had some memorable ups and downs, for the conditions were more favorable for the gallery than for the riflemen. The standing of the twenty leading teams to-night was: New Jersey, 1,013; Massachusetts, 969; New York, 997; Marine Corps, 986; Wisconsin, 983; Ohio, 983; Pennsylvania, 980; Rhode Island, 978; Connecticut, 976; Infantry, 976; Navy, 971; Cavalry, 967; Washington, 964; District of Columbia, 963; Colorado, 957; Minnesota, 954; Illinois, 953; Maryland, 941; Oregon, 938; Montana, 926.

New York forged up to a good third, with a score of 502, and the Marines came up from seventeenth place to fourth by running up the top score for the range, 506, two points better than the Jerseymen. Massachusetts had lead enough from the short distance to retain her hold on second place, but New York, the Marines and Wisconsin gained on her at the range. Wisconsin, with a strong board, came up into the van and the sharps began to take notice, for the Badker riflemen have good reputations as skirmishers. The service teams, with the exception of the Marines, fared indifferently, the Infantry, Cavalry and Navy taking tenth, eleventh and twelfth places, respectively. Maior Price of New Jersey with a 48, was the high man at this difficult stage. Sergt. Bryant of New York, Sergt. Jeffers of Massachusetts and Lieut. McDougal of the Marines were close up with a 47 each. The strong showing of New York was a great satisfaction to a big gallery that followed Col. Thurston's team.

Excepting the Jerseymen New York had the most consistent board at 600, ranging from a 49 to a 47.—The teams dropped back to the 800 yard stage at 5 o'clock. New Jersey increased her lead with a 48 by Tewes and a 48 by Smith, New York was but a point behind with McAlpin's 47 and Meyer's 46. start, a Leander crew taking them to the finish.

Harvard rowed a trial mile from the mile post to Putney Bridge on the ebbtide, down stream, paced half way by a scratch crew of the Leander club, which Harvard beat at Putney Bridge by a quarter of a length. The time for the mile was 4 minutes 13 seconds. The critics think this row does not compare favorably with Cambridge's effort earlier in the day.

This afternoon, after some betting at even money, Cambridge was made the favorite at 11 to 10 on.

Niether crew came up to the expectations of its supporters to-day. The Cambridge crew, in the afternoon trial, which was originally intended to be over the full course, did ragged work, and the scratch Leander crew, including Shimmel, the Cantab's spare map, and Lunt and Faulkner of Harvard, had no difficulty in holding them for the last three-quarters of a mile. The importance of this lay in the fact that the Leanders were practically rowing with seven men, as Blackstaffe had trouble with his oar swivel and was quite useless. However, considering the condition of the water, Cambridge's time for the mile and three-quarters was not bad.

The Harvard crew certainly showed more celerity in starting to-day. For the first time since they arrived in England they seemed able to get dash into their first stroke. Heretofore their oars, when the command "ready" was given, were very close to the water, and at the subsequent order to "paddle" they entered the water in the leisurely manner of men starting on a pleasure row. The Cantabs, on the contrary, hold their blades higher and at the word "paddle" their oars dash into the water and they whip off at from 38 to 40 strokes to the minute. Dissatisfaction with the Harvard's starting has been general, but their efforts to-day showed remarkable improvement.

There was an amusing discussion concerning the weight of the respective shells to-day. After several bets that the Harvard boat was the heavier both were weighed. The result showed that the Harvard boat was the heavier both wer CHICAGO, Sept. 4.- Norman Elberfeld, shortstop of the New York American League Club. was to-day indefinitely suspended by Presi-dent Johnson for his attack on Umpire O'Loughlin in the first game of yesterday's O'Loughlin in the first game of yesterday's double header with Philadelphia.

"Elberfeld is a great ball player when in shape, but his temperament does not seem right for the best interests of that club," commented President Johnson this morning. "Most of the time he is injured and unable to play, and is seems that just as soon as he is able to get back into the game he gets into trouble with his rowdy tactics, and I won't stand for such actions as yesterday's. His suspension is indefinite, and I may decide to keep him on the bench as long as ten days. AMERICAN LEAGUE.

New Yorks Keep Up Their Spurt, Winning Twice in Boston.

The New Yorks went over to Boston yes-terday and with no letup in their swift pace they played a double header with the tail enders and shut the latter out in both of them. It made eleven straight wins for Griffith's men, who have the exceptional record of having won five double headers in five consecutive days. The New York pitching staff is doing better work than at any time this season. By order of Ban Johnson Elberfeld did not play in the second game yesterday. He has been suspended. The Philadelphias beat the Washingtons easily and St. Louis took care of Detroit. The BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The New Yorks won their fifth straight double header to-day and succeeded in shutting out the tailenders in both contests. The first game went to the visitors easily through their hard hitting and Clarkson's fine picching, but Glaze gave them considerable bother in the second, allowing but geven hits. Conroy's double, followed by Keeler's fine two sacker, in the eighth was the cause of New York getting the only run of the game. Elberfeld played in the first game, but Hurst received a despatch from President Johnson afterward suspending the little shortstop for his run in with O'Loughlin in New York yesterday. Yeager filled his position in the second game and his single error did not prove costly.

A decision by Hurst in the ninth inning, when he called Hoey's drive to left a foul, brought down on the umpire all kinds of yells of derision. Hurst was behind the pitcher, with Ferris on first base. Hoey's hit went three feet inside the bag, according to many experts who were sitting directly in line with the base, and the batter reached second on it, Ferris taking third. When the umpire called it foul he was roundly hissed, and after Hoey had fanned, ending the game, Hurst was rushed by some of the crowd, but policemen drove them back.

Both teams had opportunities of scoring in the second inning of the first game, but sharp fielding stopped the men before they reached the plate. Clarkson opened the third with a beauty triple to centre and came home when Conroy singled. Keeler and Elberfeld were both thrown out, but the next three both thrown out, but the first game, but sharp fielding stopped the men before they reached the plate. Clarkson opened the third with a beauty triple to centre and came home when Conroy singled. Keeler and Elberfeld were both thrown out, but the first game, but single by Chase.

A beautiful exhibition of heady ball twirling was given by Orth in the second game, and Gl

A leading Tobacco Trade paper now admits my main contention.

A recent issue of "The Tobacco Leaf" says, editorially, under a caption of 'Heading Off the Mail Order Evil": How many retailers realize how important it is for them to fight the mail order houses in every possible way? Do you know that if the retailers of this country do not stop the growth of the mail order houses that they will eventually do almost all the retail business of the country, and there wil be no need of retailers or even wholesalers?" This must mean me. (The editorial then goes on to suggest to the cigar dealers of the country that they fight the mail order evil, not on price or quality, but by an organized opposition to the passage of a parcels post bill, as practically all the advantage of such a bill, it asserts, is for the mail order business.)

I am glad to note, too, that "The Tobacco Leaf" editorial does not contradict my statement that I can give better cigar values than the retailer, and parcels post or no parcels post, I can continue to pay expressage on my customers' orders, because my preponderance of repeat orders cuts out practically all selling expense for me. Now since, as you know, "where there is smoke there must be fire," do you not believe it would be worth your while to investigate this factory-to-smoker plan of mine which is causing so .much solicitude to "the trade"? Make a trial of my Panatelas at my risk, as per offer below.

MY OFFER IS: - I will send one hundred Shivers' Panatela Cigars on approval to a reader of The Sun, express prepaid. He may smoke ten cigars and return the remaining ninety at my expense and no charge for those smoked if he is not pleased with them: if he is pleased, and keeps them, he is to remit the price, $5.00, within ten days.

The fillers of these, cigars are Clear Havana, of good quality-not only clear, but long, clean Havana-no shorts or cuttings are used. They are hand made by the best of workmen. The making has much to do with the smoking qualities of a cigar. The wrappers are genuine Sumatra. In ordering please enclose business card or give personal references, and state whether mild, medium or strong cigars are desired. HERBERT D. SHIVERS,
